Dear John,

As I sit down to write you today I am not sure as yet what Spirit wishes to convey to you this day. As we wait for the energy to begin flowing well, let me say what I know within myself that the foundation will make it through these testing times of formation. I know Michael did not share with me so many years ago this idea and inspire you John, to bring it into being unless it was meant to be. Just as it took time for us to come together in this life to begin the work and just as it took time for you to draw the people together to start the foundation on its way, so it will take time for it to come together and really begin to grow smoothly. There is much to much higher love and spiritual will behind the Foundation for it not to succeed. And now to a message from our Brothers.

John, greetings from those of us here on the inner planes of light. We have gathered together at this time to share with you our light & love and express to you our joy at your work. It will take time for the group to get past all personality and truly flow harmoniously with the flow of the spiritual energy of the Foundation. As you have seen around you now in the past 3 mos. as the

The struggle each of you are encountering today will help you in times to come for now is the time to clean up the past and past emotions and mental karmas. You all are having to deal with karma developed both in past lives and this life as well.

Through this cleansing and reevaluation of self and motives, the foundation has a whole will be strong and survive. Work together to better understand each other and learn to help each other so eventually your energies will harmonize into one and that one energy will then be the true energy of Light and Love we can work with to develop and complete the goals we have set down for the foundation.

Unfortunately the path you are on is not the easiest path for much is given up personally in order to gain the higher goal. Jim can testify to the personal sacrifice & time given up of self for our goals.

We ask of you each a great deal and in return expect nothing for yourself. What you will gain eventually through your giving will be personal growth and understanding through that growth and the growth comes from the struggle and work to accomplish our goals. More than that we can not give you for there is nothing more to give except for our loving support and gratitude for your effort and our joy in working with you on your growth as you reach out to help others.

Each day, blessings of light come to each of you and surround you to bring about and easing of the outer tensions and an understanding of the growth needed. It is up to each of you to open your Auras and open your hearts and minds to this light so it can truly do its work. If you stand determined to do it on your own and force the energy to flow as you desire it, each of you will fold under the current of the flow, but if you open to the higher and learn to flow with the movement of spiritual energy and growth, you will see that life, change, and development will be much easier and understanding will come with the flow.

Often times our Blessings roll off your backs as does the water off a Duck's

Back only because your energies are so tied up in self and the worldly turmoil around you it seals your aura from us, just as the oil seals the ducks feathers from water. You must learn, each of you, to open your Aurae daily and allow the flow of the Holy Spirit to flow into your life and in this way we can give you support and love and guidance.

Let your aura open at the Crown Chakra and let it open in love and in return receive the love of God, the love of the Holy Spirit. That love and light is always there, what matters is where your consciousness is at. whether it be so involved in earthly matters and in this way you are closed off and sealed to the reality, or if you open up your consciousness to the higher love and allow the flow of the higher life and love into your life.

We ask of you, do not close your self off from us, for we need each of you and the gifts you have to share with the world and you need the higher love and light to help make the path clear and smooth.

We ask of you, open up your hearts and minds and receive the Breath of the Holy Spirit, the Love of God and allow that love to change your life.

In Love & Light
Your Brothers

Until next time John.
